Comptons 2000 have built a long-standing and enviable reputation as manufacturers of the highest quality.

The company has over 50 years experience of manufacturing quality, trademark products for industry, commerce and the Ministry of Defence, with a traditional and talented skill base, supported by the very best in new technology.

We have the ability and expertise to meet both the technical and highest quality demands of challenging and important projects for the Ministry of Defence, as a primary contractor, and we are fully accredited to BSEN ISO 9001 standard.

Comptons 2000's impressive client base stretches across a range of industries, and our highly skilled and motivated workforce have made everything from MOD waterproof covers to boxing ring corners, and even specialist projects such as waterproof supports to strengthen sea walls....there is probably nothing our team cannot make.

We are specialists in the production of commercial vehicle covers, classic car covers and bespoke tentage, using the highest level of skill and quality of materials.

Our design and development team can advise on solutions and develop tailor-made prototypes as required, ensuring that from the very first contact, a project is on track to be produced to meet its requirements, exactly and precisely, from military covers and canteens for the British Army, to banners, welding curtains and trailer covers.

Compton 2000's enviable reputation in the industry allows us to deal directly with the M.O.D in design and development, whilst also indirectly with major industrial supplier companies in the key chain.

Our motto is quality always comes first.

Our work with the Ministry of Defence, whilst being a very important part of our portfolio, is not just what we do.

From a complicated military tentage system, groundsheets, tarpaulins, field commands and staging posts, ammunition stores and seating, our skilled workforce also produce covers for your Austin A30 'classic' car, Land Rovers or trailers, with our quality unsurpassed.

Specific covers for tailored accessories in military storage for engine covers, commercial generators, and even aircraft covers can be manufactured in reinforced welded PVC, to customers exact requirements and specifications.

Our high level of service, skill and development of your product from conception to delivery is our total guarantee.

Comptons 2000...the quality you know you can trust.
